Plaintiff, Dennys Acevedo, residing at Sing-Sing Correctional Facility, NYS DOCCS, has been an Incarcerated individual at Sing Sing Correctional Facility and on January 4, 2023, plaintiff attended to an emergency call out to the Dental Clinic at Sing Sing Correctional Facility. Plaintiff reported an excruciating toothache, headache. He was then examined by a Doctor named K. Rakib, who after performing x-rays discovered that plaintiff was suffering from an infection. Plaintiff was asked to sign a consent agreeing to the extraction of the cavity. However, against his will, because the pain he was suffering was so severe, Dr. Rakib told plaintiff that he could not extract the cavity himself, that plaintiff was going to be placed on a waiting list for the outside doctor in charge to extract the cavities to the prisoners. To which plaintiff totally opposed, because he could not bear the excruciating pain, and plaintiff insisted asking for a time frame in which this doctor would show up to the facility.

13. Plaintiff was sent back to his cell, pain killer medication was prescribed, and antibiotics. Nevertheless, seven days later this medication run out, Plaintiffs face started to swell, forcing him to go back to the hospital complaining because the infection was getting worse and the pain got to the level that he was wishing to die, plaintiff was unable to bear the pain. When plaintiff returned to the hospital (this second time), Dr. Rakib told plaintiff that he was going to prescribe him more medication and that there was nothing that he could do to ease his problem, that plaintiff had to continue waiting for the outside doctor. Plaintiff continued objecting to the doctor's decision because plaintiff was suffering, unable to perform his basic and daily activities, unable to eat, sleep, thinking and wishing to die. The medication was not sent to plaintiff as indicated by Dr. Rakib, plaintiff had to wait like 8 hours later, after voicing his complaint to the company officer, C.O. Alexander.

Alexander after seeing plaintiff's swelling face and inability to talk adequately, he decided to send plaintiff to the facility emergency room. Once the nurse saw his face and checked him, it was decided that plaintiff needed to be sent out to the outside hospital.

15. Plaintiff was sent to Mount Vernon where he was admitted a staff performed a CT Scan, and blood tests were conducted, also plaintiff was administered IV. Then, Mount Vernon staff decided to transfer plaintiff to Westchester Medical Dental, where after conducting x-rays, blood tests and administering IVs, the doctors concluded that immediate extraction of the cavity was required, which they did. After the surgery, the doctor discovered that because the delay taken in treating this problem, plaintiff suffered permanent nerve damage for the rest of his life that prevent from smiling, moving the bottom lips normally, and loss of sensibility preventing him being able to drink water properly, water spills out the side of his mouth and from chewing food properly causing him to bite the lip continually.
